AMENDMENTS TO AID-TO-BRITAIN BILL AGREED ON

House Committee Gives Sponsorship to Two Changes Today

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh said today that by aiding Great Britain and other countries the United States "is encouraging war, prolonging it and increasing bloodshed in Europe without material affecting the course of the war."

Testifying in opposition to the administration's British aid bill before the Senate foreign relations committee, Lindbergh said in a prepared statement that if this country is ever invaded "the responsibility will lie with those who send our arms abroad."

Under questioning by Senator Connally (D-Tex.), the 39-year-old flier declared that the nation already was committed to giving Britain some aid. "We should keep our promises," he declared, then added:

"I think it is very important that England not be beaten in war, but I don't think that is in American control."

Lindbergh then said he believed repeal of this country's arms embargo two years ago had "encouraged war" in Europe.

Lindbergh added that American help the belligerents abroad encouraged and prolonged and increased bloodshed.

Amendments Agreed

While the Senate committee was hearing Lindbergh, Democratic members of the House foreign affairs committee agreed on an amendment to the British-aid bill to put a five-year limit on the President's power to make contracts under the legislation.

This extension of the contractual power three years beyond the proposed expiration date of the law, it was said, would permit the completion of large projects, warships for example.

Also, in a bid for increased support for the bill, the House committee decided to sponsor another amendment, reading: "Nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize or permit authorizations of the entry of any American vessel into a combat area in violation of the neutrality act of 1939."

Publisher Witness

Preceding Lindbergh before the Senate group was Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

McCormick did not express an opinion on the legislation but testified that he favored occupying British and French island possessions "by force" if that were necessary to prevent Germany from using them as bases for an attack on the United States.

In response to questions, the publisher said he would like for the United States to "have" the Azores, Portuguese possession in the mid-Atlantic, "right away."

At one point, Lindbergh testified in reply to questions by Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) that he did not believe the United States should aid Greece in its fight against Italy. Secretary of the Navy Knox disclosed yesterday that Greece had been offered 30 navy planes now on the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The witness went on to say that he believed the nation's strength was being weakened materially by the policy of permitting other nations to obtain a "fighting majority" of the new "great planes being built here."

"Almost all of the equipment and almost all of the planes that are being built in the United States are going abroad," he said. "Well," Connally interposed, "a large part—"

"I should say a great majority," Lindbergh interrupted. "Lindbergh declared that 'stop-encouraging war' testimony that repeated the arms embargo had 'done more damage' to France than if the act had been left on the statute books. 'In the end,' he said, 'it may be shown to have done more damage to Britain.'"

Lindbergh asserted that "from the standpoint of Britain and France, I believe a better peace could be negotiated now than next month or next year."

Under further questioning, the witness said he did not know whether Britain could be invaded. "It would be extremely costly," he said.

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) asked Lindbergh to explain how he thought the United States had "contributed to the downfall of France."

"If they had not expected us to enter the war, they would not have declared war at the time," Lindbergh said.

Asked whether (D-Fla.), who once called Lindbergh "chief of the fifth columnists," took up the questioning. He remarked that he was an admirer of Lindbergh and said that his questions would not be designed to make the sources of your convictions thoroughly apparent to the American people.

"Now Colonel," Pepper continued, "when did you first go to Europe?"

Lindbergh drew a storm of laughter and applause when he responded.

"In 1927, sir," he was that year that he flew to Paris. Chairman George (D-Cal.) had to raise repeatedly for order. Pepper asked him about the decoration given him by German Field Marshal Goering.

Lindbergh said that on one of his trips to Germany between 1925 and 1939 he was invited to

Explanation

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Margaret Russell, 34-year-old "pamphleteer" who was ousted from the house of representatives for interrupting debate on the lease-lend bill yesterday by donning a death mask and robe and shouting "Victory Will Be Mine," explained the whole thing today.

"I would have explained in Washington," she said, "but they put me in jail and let me go only on my promise to leave town immediately."

"You see, I represented death. So when the congressmen got to debating about whether Germany or Italy would win, I just slipped on my costume and shouted, 'Victory Will Be Mine.' Get it?"

Then, she said, there was a hubbub with police and others crowding around and voices all over demanding her arrest.

Heated Debate in Illinois House on Aid Bill Expected

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Hot argument before full galleries is in prospect next Tuesday when the state house of representatives debates a resolution denouncing the congressional lease-lend bill.

The executive committee voted late yesterday to send the resolution, sponsored by Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill (R-Downers Grove) back to the house without recommendation. Several Republican legislators denounced the congressional measure in the committee hearing.

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice president of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, said motor caravans will come to Springfield next Tuesday from committee chapters throughout the state to "jam the house gallery" during debate on the O'Neill resolution. The committee is opposed to the lease-lend bill.

Against "Present Form" Mrs. O'Neill's resolution would inform congress that the Illinois legislature is opposed to passage of the measure "in its present form." It asserted enactment of the lease-lend bill "will be tantamount to a congressional surrender of all of its constitutional power."

Should the resolution be adopted by the house next week, it would have to wait until Feb. 13 for senate action. The upper chamber will hold only so-called "perfunctory" sessions next week, without quorum attendance.

Probes Postponed

The house executive committee yesterday postponed consideration of a resolution by Rep. Joseph Sam Perry (D-Glen Ellyn) calling for an investigation of the Democratic administrations of former Governor John Steele and the late Governor Henry Horner until Perry amends his resolution to outline his proposed probe more specifically.

Another investigation was asked in the legislature yesterday by Senator A. Otis Arnold (R-Quincy) who proposed a joint committee of six legislators to inquire into the state's civil service system.

Surface of Mine City Gives Way Suddenly

West Pittston, Pa., Feb. 6.—(AP)—At least 20 families were thrown from their beds and half a dozen streets were damaged early today by a surface settlement affecting a three block area in this eastern Pennsylvania community of 8,000.

The settlement was preceded by a loud rumbling noise. A large area of another Pennsylvania anthracite town—Shenandoah—was badly damaged by a similar subsidence about a year ago.

Today's settlement—unlike some—ended quickly. Among buildings damaged was a public school, which was ordered closed.

Police said the sinking caused no panic.

January Sales Tax Collections Set New Monthly High; Were $10,561,788

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—(AP)—An all time monthly high for Illinois sales tax collections was reported for January today by George B. McKibbin, state finance director, who said the figure was $10,561,788.

The record total, based upon business done by retail merchants of the state during December, compared with $8,242,182 reported for the previous month. Last month's sales tax collections were nearly $3,000,000 higher than in January, 1940, when the total collections were $7,655,268.80. The January figure usually is the peak total of the year.

McKibbin said the increase reflected record retail business during the holiday season.

Sales tax collections for last year totaled $96,082,477.56. The January report of the state treasurer's office showed $4,450,528 in the state general revenue fund at the close of business January 31 compared with a balance of $7,613,399 at the end of December. The treasurer's report showed a "net" balance of $249,781,279 in all state funds after deductions had been made for outstanding warrants.

The regular fund balance at January's end was $53,148,338 and the trust fund balance was $196,632,940.

Principal January treasury receipts were listed as $6,699,547.73 from motor vehicle tax and other sources for road building purposes, $3,558,905 from motor fuel tax, $4,233,747 for emergency relief, and $2,560,000 credited by the federal treasury for unemployment compensation.

Principal disbursements last month listed were $1,852,606 to the common schools, $1,497,166 for road building, $3,969,620 for emergency relief and $3,000,000 for unemployment compensation.

Details as to how the money was being used were kept secret.

DEMOCRATS PICK CANDIDATE FOR PLACE ON BENCH

Name L. F. Reinhold of Freeport to Oppose Sen. George Dixon

Delegates to the Democratic 15th judicial convention held in Mount Carroll Wednesday evening nominated Attorney Louis F. Reinhold of Freeport as the party's candidate to oppose state Senator George C. Dixon of Dixon, who was nominated by Republicans at Freeport Monday, for the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon. The special election will be held April 1.

The Democratic convention also passed a resolution holding that Senator Dixon is ineligible for the office because he has already accepted his biennial salary as a member of the Illinois general assembly.

Reinhold was nominated by Albert H. Manus of Freeport. John P. Devine of Dixon introduced the resolution outlining the issue on which the Democrats apparently will base their campaign.

Reinhold was the only one presented at the meeting, held in the courthouse here. His nomination and the resolution were unanimously adopted by the delegates present. Representatives of the Democratic party were present from Lee, Ogle, Stephenson and Carroll counties. Jo Daviess county delegates did not appear.

Wilson Presides

Frank B. Wilson of Waukegan, former state representative, was chairman of the convention and Robert L. Morris of Lanark was secretary. Devine seconded nomination of Reinhold, and seconding speeches by Martin Eakle of Ogle county and Morris, representing the Carroll county delegates, followed.

Reinhold, a native of Freeport, has served two terms as state attorney of Stephenson county. He was elected in 1928 and re-elected in 1932. From 1917 to 1919, he

Army, Canadian Planes Crack Up

Farmingdale, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Two Army pursuit planes collided 2,000 feet above this Long Island village today, killing a 25-year-old pilot and injuring another who bailed out.

The pilots—Lieutenants John H. Eakin of McLean, Va., who was killed, and Joseph Laycock, 23, of Baton Rouge, La.—were flying in V-formation with a third "lead" plane when their two rear ships locked wings and nosed downward.

Laycock suffered a broken arm. His plane whirled to earth, finally stopping beneath a viaduct on a main thoroughfare.

It was the second crack up of the week of pursuit planes operating out of Mitchell field, Army air base. On Monday, Second Lieut. Sherman E. Denny was killed when he crashed near Northport, Long Island.

Story Reversed

Macon, Ga., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Reversing the old story, a Macon landlord skipped out on his tenants.

Several workmen from a nearby army project, Camp Wheeler, checked in and planked down $18 each for two weeks in advance, Deputy Sheriff J. C. Calhoun related. Returning from work next day, the tenants told the deputy they found the house bare of the last stick of furniture, landlord and landlady gone.

Ford Company Is Threatened With Strike by C. I. O.

By The Associated Press

The huge Ford Motor Company, which holds millions of dollars in national defense orders, faced an implied strike threat today from the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

"Any necessity of a strike" at the Ford plants can be avoided by "sincere negotiations" on five union demands made yesterday, declared a statement by R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, and Michael F. Wildman, Jr., director of the union's drive to organize the Ford workers.

Ford spokesmen said they wouldn't "take the trouble" to reply to the union, which asked wage increases, acceptance of the principle of seniority, and an immediate bargaining conference for employees of the company at Highland Park and River Rouge, Mich. There are 85,000 Ford production workers in the Detroit area.

On Other Labor Fronts

On other labor fronts affecting the defense program this was the situation:

Seven thousand employees of the Allis-Chalmers Company in Milwaukee, Wis., and 6,500 of the International Harvester Company tractor plant at Chicago remained out on strike, with no apparent progress made toward settlement of the disputes. Allis-Chalmers has some $40,000,000 in defense contracts.

At a LaCrosse, Wis., rubber plant 800 CIO-unions walked out yesterday contending the company had violated seniority rules. A second strike in two weeks stopped production of freight cars by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company at Michigan City, Ind. An AFL union spokesman said the company refused to consider a grievance committee's demands.

$42,000,000 Each Day

London, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, told Commons today the war was costing the British 15,000,000 pounds (about $42,000,000) every day, or more than double the daily expenditures of a year ago.

He made the statement in asking for another lump sum appropriation of 600,000,000 pounds (about $2,400,000,000) for the rest of this year, and 1,000,000,000 ($4,000,000,000) to start the next fiscal period beginning April 1.

Details as to how the money was being used were kept secret.

High Hatted

Olympia, Wash., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Piqued because of a state senate rule that visitors must remove their hats, the house of representatives passed with a whoop a resolution that senators must remove their shoes in the house chamber.

Rep. Charles Todd, author of the resolution, said "The house has twice as many members as the senate, so I think we can be just twice as high-hat."

The resolution passed unanimously, but Speaker Edward J. Reilly saved the senators' dignity by ruling loudly that it had lost.

Italian Colonists in Libya, Panic-Stricken, Flee: British March On

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Resumption of big scale air thrusts by both Germany and Britain, with temporary improvement of the weather, is a sorry harbinger of a bloody spring.

The Battle of Britain, which had slowed down greatly because of bad flying conditions, picked up speed again with the first burst of sunshine and headed for the big crisis which the nazis are trying to force in their effort to knock England out.

This might come at any time, but logical expectations would place it under the brighter skies of April or later. Western Europe's winter will show some nasty bursts of temper yet.

When the day of trial comes it will in great measure be a test of strength between the rival air fleets. There will be various phases of this great conflict, vastly important among them being the German submarine campaign which is designed to strangle Britain by cutting off essential supplies. All these, however, and especially any attempt at invasion, will hinge on the operations—offensive and defensive—of the rival air fleets.

So far as concerns any effort to land an army in England, this must depend on control of the air—something which the Germans haven't yet been able to achieve. The conflict in the sky therefore may be expected to swell to great intensity as flying conditions improve. A highly important point in the situation to date is Britain's growing initiative in aerial assault, as witness her deep thrusts into Germany Tuesday night and yesterday.

Small wonder then that there should be intense interest in the relative size and strength of the rival fleets—subjects which present a mystery to the world at large.

Not even London knows the strength of the German air force, and the nazis are unlikely to have the British figures. Both sides have rather shrewd ideas, of course, but these details are carefully guarded secrets. So far as numerical strength goes, there is no dispute that the Germans have it.

However, the question of strength isn't necessarily dependent on numerical superiority. It's the striking power that counts, and such elements as speed and fire-power may equalize the difference in numbers.

On this basis the British, while acknowledging Germany's numerical superiority, believe they are close to equaling the nazi fleet in striking power, and are piling up strength fast. The reason for this seemingly anomalous situation is

Two Cases from Lee Co. Before Appellate Court

The Appellate court sitting at Ottawa has denied a petition for a rehearing by that body of the damage action brought by Mrs. Margaret Gardner against Mrs. Hazel Kelly, both of this city, and the case is remanded for retrial in Lee county Circuit court, it was reported here today.

A verdict in the amount of $10,000 was awarded the plaintiff by a jury in the Circuit court here a year ago and in December, 1940, the appellate court reversed the jury's action.

Another action arising from Lee county Circuit has been taken under advisement by the appellate court. This involves a damage suit instituted by Charles Conkrite, Sr. of Dixon against former sheriff Ward T. Miller. A jury at the September term of Circuit court returned a verdict of not guilty, which resulted in the appeal being taken.

Marital Troubles of Marion Talley Spread from Coast to Coast

Los Angeles, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The marital troubles of Marion Talley, former metropolitan opera star, brought coast-to-coast court action.

In an amended divorce complaint here, Miss Talley charged that her husband, Adolph G. Eckstrom, voice teacher, attempted to extort $150,000 from her on a threat to accuse her falsely of misconduct with seven men.

They were Ventrioloquist Edgar Bergen, film actor Eric Rhodes, Rust Heinz of the canning family, film Director Aubrey Scott, musician Arthur Rosenstem, singer Jean Sablon and John S. Keith, her attorney.

In New York, Supreme Court Justice Charles M. McLaughlin denied her motion for dismissal of Eckstrom's separation suit, and for dismissal of that part of his suit relating to his effort to gain custody of their five-year-old daughter, Betty, Ruth.

That all counties with a population of 100,000 to 175,000 which have elected township tax collectors will continue under that status unless, through a referendum, the office be abolished.

That all counties with a population of 100,000 to 175,000 which have not elected township tax collectors will remain under that status unless through a referendum the office be created.

The bill with the recommendation that the house pass it. The house will consider the amended bill when it reconvenes next Tuesday.

The bill as amended provides: That all counties having a population under 100,000 will have no township tax collector. (The 1940 census places the population of Lee county at 34,604.)

Catherine Spitz Becomes Bride at Mendota Church

Miss Catherine Spitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Spitz of Mendota, and Arthur Henkel, son of the Jacob Henkels of West Brooklyn, exchanged nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony Wednesday morning at Holy Cross church in Mendota. The Rev. Father Leo J. Wissing celebrated the nuptial mass at 9 o'clock.

Miss Cecelia Henkel, sister of the bridegroom, and Aloysius Spitz, the bride's brother, were the attendants. Nancy Ann Kratz, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Howard Smith, another cousin of the bride, carried the rings. Ushers were Robert and Leo Henkel.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white slipper satin with leg-of-mutton sleeves and a long train. She wore a blusher veil, and carried white roses.

Miss Henkel chose sky blue satin with short sleeves. Her gown was trimmed in rose and dubonet. Pink carnations formed her bouquet.

The little flower girl was dressed in pink satin with a doll hat to match. The ring bearer was wearing a white satin blouse with black velvet trousers.

Pink snapdragons decorated the church altar for the ceremony. A wedding breakfast was served for 27 relatives at the home of the bride's parents, where appointments were in pink and white. Three-hundred friends honored the bridal pair at an evening reception at the Knights of Columbus hall.

The bride was graduated from Holy Cross parochial school, and attended Mendota Township high school. Mr. Henkel formerly attended the parochial school at West Brooklyn, and is engaged in farming with his father.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Stop Insane Fourth

There is a bill before the legislature at Springfield which certainly should become a law in Illinois. It is known as the Fireworks Bill and it is designed to stop the indiscriminate sale and use of dangerous fireworks in this state. Certainly the member of the House or Senate who would oppose this bill has not thought about the number of little boys and girls who each Fourth of July become blinded or burned to death or maimed in some manner just because we allow them to play with these dangerous explosives.

The Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness is giving this bill the strongest possible backing and endorsement and such action is indicative of its merit.

A survey in Illinois made last fall showed that out of 190 towns questioned 138 favored legislation of this kind, for while most cities now prevent the sale of fireworks within the corporate limits there can be no control until we have a state law preventing sale from roadside stands in the country.

The law would not prevent the use of fireworks at public celebrations or under organized control for which permits would be available. Many states already have enacted this law, among them: Iowa, Michigan, New Jersey, Indiana, Delaware, New York, Pennsylvania, Utah and West Virginia. Illinois should get in step.

Rats!

The rat is the enemy of the human race, a destroyer of food and property, a carrier and spreader of disease.

That is always true. But one of the grimmest byproducts of the bombings of London has been the increase of the rat menace. Rats who for uncounted generations have lived in old London buildings are being forced to seek new homes as those buildings are destroyed by bomb and fire, a London reporter informs. These migrations spread to new places the old and latent menace of the rodent. London authorities are engaged in a campaign against rats, fearful lest disease be spread by them under the abnormal conditions of the city.

Several American cities have already launched campaigns against our enemy, the rat, usually with WPA help. This new London story adds one more to the reasons why every city should join in.

The Two 'Dear Charmers'

Debonair Captain Macneath of Gays 'Beggars' Opera' was torn between two loves—a sort of Siamese-twin passion for Polly Peachum and Lucy Lockit. Thus bedeviled, the captain sings the familiar rueful refrain:

"How happy I would be with either,
"Were't other dear charmer away!"

The United States is getting into a somewhat similar predicament. We love Polly England, but we also love Lucy Latin-America. And Polly is now suggesting that we do some things that we've promised Lucy not to do.

More plainly: It has been suggested that under the proposed lend-lease plan, the United States might open its ports for repair and refitting of British warships. Unofficial suggestions have also come from Britain that the British would like to establish a contraband control base at Trinidad, and also to deny American port facilities to all neutral ships "blacklisted" by the British as carrying on trade unfavorable to the British cause.

The difficulty is here: The United States would not seem to be free to do those things. There are carefully cultivated relationships with Central and South America to be considered. And in furtherance of those relationships, the United States is party to certain agreements.

At the Panama Inter-American Conference in October, 1939, certain agreements were reached by the 21 American nations, aimed at keeping war away from the Americas.

These stated flatly that the American states would "prevent their respective terrestrial, maritime, and aerial territories from being utilized as bases of belligerent operations." That belligerent warships "shall not be allowed to remain in their own ports or waters for more than 24 hours." That they "shall require all belligerent vessels and aircraft seeking the hospitality of areas under their jurisdiction and control to respect strictly their neutral status." And, basically, that "the American Republics, as long as they maintain neutrality, have the indisputable right to preserve free from all hostile acts on the part of any non-American belligerent nation whose waters adjacent to the American continent which they consider of primordial interest and of direct utility for their relations."

These principles we have agreed to jointly with the other American nations. We can scarcely abandon any of them, in letter or in spirit, of our own accord and without agreement with them, without jeopardizing the good will we have been so laboriously building.

Contraband inspection in American waters and on inter-American trade routes, opening of ports to belligerent war vessels, acquiescence in a British "black list," would seem to flout directly these joint neutrality agreements.

How happy we could be with either, were't other dear charmer away!

Frances Willard Anniversary Is Remembered Here

The Frances Willard memorial service of the Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Dixon was held in the Christian church on Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Helen Peters presided.

After the "White Ribbon Rally Song" Mrs. Charles E. Hill, devotional chairman, presented Mrs. Mrs. O. E. Strock who gave a very helpful message on the Prayer Life of Jesus, With Mrs. Ada Underwood at the piano, "Home Sweet Home" was sung by Mrs. Lloyd Sheller and Mrs. Clyde Lenox.

"Honoring Frances E. Willard" was the subject of an address given by Mrs. A. I. Hardy in which she brought out the important things in her life and work. A discussion followed on "What Would Frances Willard Do if She Were In Our Town Today?" Mrs. C. P. Tibbets said what she thought she would do along the line of alcohol education. Mrs. Edward Holbrook, leader of the L. T. L. society told what she would do with the children. Phyllis and Margery Biehl, two L. T. L. members favored with a duet, "The Rally of the L. T. L."

The out of town speaker was the Rev. W. C. Royston of Chicago who is devoting his time to Anti-Saloon League work. He told many things that are being accomplished by the league and praised the work of Frances Willard and the W. C. T. U.

The meeting closed with singing "God Save America" with Mrs. Strock at the piano. There was a good attendance. This memorial service has been observed by the Dixon Union for 43 years. The first one was observed just ten days after Miss Willard's death in February 1898.

Miss Carlen, who was born in Dover township, Bureau county,

(Distributed by King's Feature Syndicate, Inc., Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Prohibited.)

Washington, Feb. 5.—Congressional deliberations on the British aid bill have been strictly a publicity show. It is an unpleasant duty to report no serious consideration of what the bill means and what it will do has been contributed by either side.

The committee hearings, which usually produce such public evidence, developed this time into a contest in presenting big names, rather than enlightenment. The opposition got Lindbergh, Kennedy, et al, while the administration is even summoning Willkie back from London. Committeemen called that day lost which produced only Hanford McNider and Norman Thomas. While these two names are heavy enough for most front pages, the conversational murmurs of committeemen noted they did not measure up to the otherwise all-star bill.

The big names in turn, talked about everything except the bill, but chiefly about the war and aid to Britain, an issue upon which the administration and opposition differ only on methods and degrees.

No real explanation of the bill was presented by anyone. House and Senate committees have not been able to find anyone who could explain its legal significance. Nearest approach was made by War Secretary Stimson. He submitted a list of war department laws which he thought the new act would repeal. Naval Secretary Knox was unable to furnish even such a negative suggestion of the scope of the proposal on his department.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau was asked to give a rough idea of the financial aspects. He pleaded he did not know details because he was not the author. When asked who the author was, he indicated President Roosevelt had taken the initial idea up with Speaker Rayburn and the final draft was "the product of many minds." None of these minds, however, has been called to the witness chair. At Morgenthau's elbow at the time was his general counsel, Edward Foley, who is presumed privately within Congress to have contributed most of the legal draft in collaboration with Green Hackworth, legal adviser to the Secretary of State, and men on the congressional drafting committee.

The congressional committees have not been able to find out anything vital the public does not know about. A secret session was called to hear State Secretary Hull but this developed only some added details concerning the plight of Britain and no added light on the legislation.

The administration's position has been to lay down a general policy in this bill without disclosing any details. After the policy is adopted, details will come along through requests for specific appropriations and executive acts. Whether the President intends to institute a corporation or do the job himself through the Secretaries of Navy and War, or let—as has been reported without confirmation—Morgenthau direct the aid through an inter-departmental committee, is not clear yet. The figure of $2,000,000,000 as an appropriation has been mentioned, but only by the opposition in a substitute proposal. Little has been said about the most important subject of collateral for the materials to be loaned or leased.

At no time has the administration offered a justification for this particular legal text as against any other. The only convincing April 30, 1875, is survived by six sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Stone of Walnut, Mrs. Tillie Noonon of Ohio, Miss Sue Carlen of Chicago, Mrs. Emma Holt of Galesburg, Mrs. Lucy Miller of Princeton, Mrs. Jennie Momeny of Mendota; and a number of nieces and nephews.

MRS. CORLEY CONNER

Amboy, Feb. 6.—The funeral of Mrs. Corley Conner, 86, who passed away at her home here at 3:40 o'clock Wednesday morning, will be held at the Vaughn chapel at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon, the Rev. J. Frank Anderson of the Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in Prairie Repose cemetery.

Corley Lawton was born in Le Claire, Ia., Dec. 2, 1854, the daughter of Casper and Catherine Barnes Lawton, and was married to Herbert G. Conner in Vinton, Ia., in June, 1873, with whom she celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary 17 years ago. Mr. Conner, well known artist, some of whose pictures hang in the court house in Minneapolis, passed away July 8, 1933.

Before coming to Amboy 34 years ago to make their home, Mr. and Mrs. Conner had lived in Nebraska, Arkansas and Minnesota. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Donna White, of Amboy; two nieces and two nephews.

testimony on the subject was by Knudsen, the production director, who said the loose, all-powerful, vague setup was justifiable because the President wanted to coordinate production. Stimson hinted something along the same line when he said the measure would give the President control of the distribution of materials.

The opposition has been squirming and squawking some because it cannot find out what the proposal is all about. Main protests along this line have come from Senators Hiram Johnson and Clark. But otherwise the opposition has heaved strictly to the same line of generalities, or conjured such wild prospects as the President giving away the navy. Not knowing what he is going to do, they do not know what to fight.

Big points stressed by the cabinet officers was that the British fleet may be captured and lay the United States open to invasion. They forgot State Secretary Hull last September 3 obtained from Prime Minister Churchill an official promise that the British fleet would never be surrendered. When this was called to Stimson's attention, he whittled his point down to the possibility that the British government might change and another prime minister might not carry out the promise. But this demolition of the point passed unnoticed, while the threats got the headlines. As a matter of fact headlines are about all the whole affair has yet produced. In the truest possible sense, Congress is legislating in the dark—a dark full of weird noises of possible disaster to Britain and invasion of this hemisphere.

Only Roosevelt apparently knows what it all will mean. That appears to be enough for a strong majority of Congress and perhaps of citizens. Maybe, they say, this is the best law ever written. Maybe it offers the best way to aid Britain. The only thing sure up to now is that it is a unique case of legislating unparalleled in the memory of the oldest Capital observer.

MINNESOTA GRID TEAM TO GET ROCKNE MEMORIAL TROPHY
Minneapolis, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Minnesota's 1940 football team, heralded as national mythical champions in addition to being the Western Conference titlist, will receive additional honors Saturday night.

Between halves of the Illinois-Minnesota Western Conference basketball game, the gridgers will be given permanent possession of the Knute Rockne Memorial trophy.

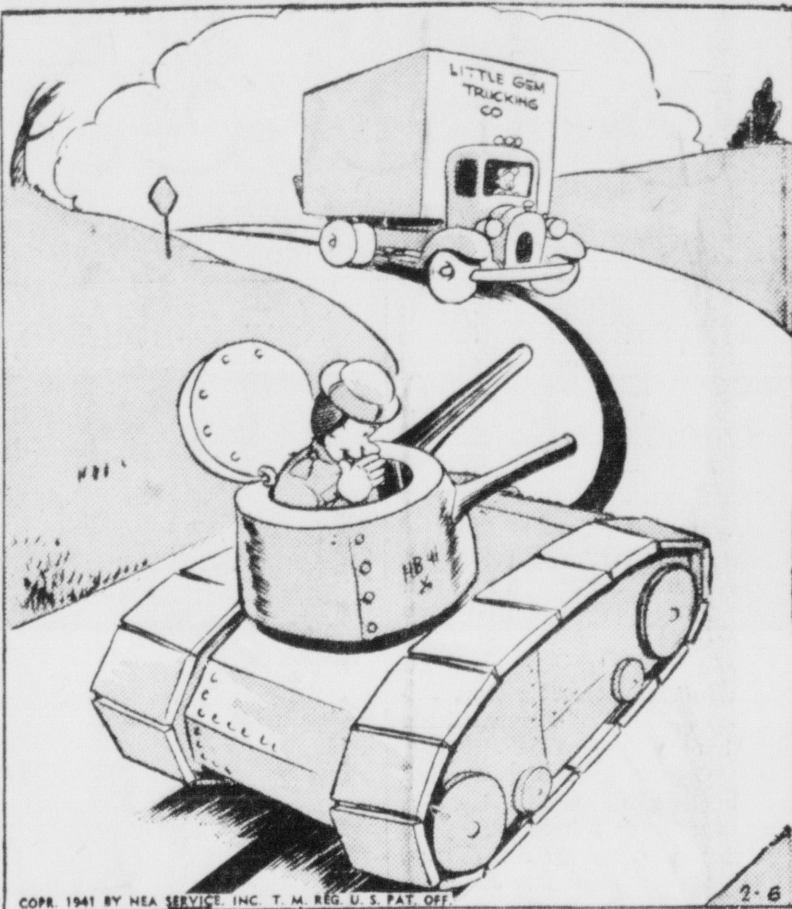

The basis for awarding the trophy to Minnesota is on figures compiled by Prof. Frank C. Dickinson in rating football teams throughout the country over a 10-year period.

Coach Bernie Bierman will accept the trophy for Minnesota while participating in the ceremony which probably will be attended by Harry Stulderer of the University of Wisconsin, Donald C. Miller of Cleveland, and Elmer Layden, three of Rockne's famous four horsemen at Notre Dame.

Weekly Food and Marketing Letter by Mrs. Emily M. Lautz for Dixon Telegraph Readers

Nothing is more inspiring to the average woman than the success story of another woman, particularly when that success is built on a foundation of initiative and hard work.

After an energetic business career, Patricia Winter had every logical reason to settle down and enjoy a gracious living as the wife of Ezra Winter, the famous mural painter. She had time on her hands, and an estate at Juniper Hills, Canaan, Conn., and with that combination it wasn't long before she started a tiny herb garden and began experimenting with herbs in her own kitchen.

That herb garden, which originally occupied only a tiny plot, has grown to an herb farm where fifty-two varieties of herbs are thriving—and are threatening to overflow into surrounding territory. Before many months, amazed friends were referring to the active estate as the "House of Herbs," rather than the picturesque title, Juniper Hills, and the appropriate name has clung.

Mrs. "Pat" is not the type to keep good things to herself. Even her enthusiasm brims over, so that a ten-minute conversation with her fires the most unimaginative cook to adventure in herb cookery. This renowned authority is eager to encourage each cook to graduate from other people's recipes and recipes. Her idea is that personal taste and the willingness to experiment unite for distinction, but she concedes that some knowledge of the herbs as individuals in a very necessary guide.

Mrs. Winter refers the fresh adventurer to Mary Grosvenor Ellsworth's definitions of herb flavors in the compact booklet, "A B C's of Herb Cooking." This chart is printed at the end of the article, where it will be more convenient to clip for kitchen reference. Introductory comment in the booklet is worth repeating:

"Herbs are a seasoning and more! Every insignificant scrap of those dried and powdered leaves has its own distinctive flavor and virtue. You can't judge the flavor by tasting the dried leaves any more than you can tell how vanilla will taste in the cake by sampling it out of the bottle. Heat and moisture call it forth and diffuse it through the whole dish.

"A pinch is enough for a dish for four—usually. Begin that way, and if you want more, use more. Like seasoning with salt and pepper, no two eaters' tastes are identical. But like salt and pepper, herbs are used to heighten the flavor of the food itself, not to overpower it.

"The strength of the flavor they give to food is increased by the length of time they cook, by a cover on the pot, by the freshness of the herbs themselves. After an hour, some of them turn bitter, so put them in for the last hour with soups and stews.

"On the other hands, if you are using them in uncooked food—a tomato cocktail, for instance—allow overnight for them to release their full flavor.

"If you don't want specks of herbs in the finished dish, tie your seasonings in a bit of muslin, let it swim in the pot and fish it out before serving.

"Because of their definite character, more than two herb-flavored dishes make a monotonous meal."

An important part of herb culture is the actual process of harvesting. Every herb on Mrs. Winter's farm is picked carefully by hand, so that only the tender blossoms are used. Drying, preparation and packing of the pungent blossoms extends through the cold months, until the garden is ready for cultivation again. As the nation's cooks have become increasingly herb-conscious, this work of harvesting has expanded so that it gives pleasant and profitable employment to women in Mrs. Winter's neighborhood, many of whom are planning to start their own herb gardens this Spring.

If this herb authority were interested merely in the commercial angle, her success story would have no particular appeal. Buy beyond the very welcome employment which her vision is providing, is the fact that Mrs. Winter is constantly devising ways to educate America's homemakers in the intelligent use of herbs.

She does not say dogmatically, "Use my herb assortments." Instead, she says eagerly, "Do learn the fun of cooking with herbs," adding, "After all, it is herbs that make the French food so spectacular."

In the culinary field, Mrs. Winter has christened her blended herb seasonings "Accent seasonings," dividing them into groups "A," for meats, sauces and stews; "B," for poultry, stuffings, vegetables and soups; and "C," for salads, eggs, cheese and fish. Not content to rub lamb with mint leaves, or serve it with mint sauce, Mrs. Winter devised a mint vinegar as a "true consort to roast lamb." That inspired her to develop a marjoram vinegar to put life into listless vegetables, and a garlic vinegar that needs only olive oil for a truly flavorful tossed green salad. There is also a basil flavor, so the cook can be a virtuoso with vinegars.

One of the expert's latest triumphs is an herb-flavored prepared mustard sauce, which cheers everything from canapés and cold meat to rarebit.

Mutual enthusiasm for herbs drew together two authorities, Mrs. Winter and Rosetta E. Clarkson, whose fascinating book, "Magic Gardens" was reviewed nearly two years ago in this column. Last year Mrs. Clarkson, whose herb farm also is in Connecticut, brought out a second valuable volume of research, "Green Enchantment." It begins to look as though these two feminine herb experts may unite in answering a share of the nation's demands for herbs, since Mrs. Clarkson's picturesque farm, "Salt Acres," is devoted entirely to growing.

Here are the promised definitions, which give the clue to use of the herb:

BASIL: A faint pepper-lemon-clove taste. Most famous for its way with tomatoes and cheese. Also traditional in bean, turtle and mock turtle soups. Excellent in chopped meat, beef stew, fish sauces, eggs, peas and potatoes.

CHERVIL: Tastes like a milder, slightly peppery parsley, and is used instead of parsley with great enthusiasm by the French. They built several butter sauces, Bernaise and Ravigote around chervil; it is part of their Fines Herbs and Bouquet Garni, standard in salad, for egg and poultry dishes, for sorrel and spinach soups.

MARJORAM: Good in everything. Used with beef, lamb, pork, veal and their stuffings; equally well met in egg, fish and cheese dishes, and on many vegetables.

ROSEMARY: At once sweet and sharp. A great meat herb, for roast pork, beef and veal, veal steaks, soups and many vegetables; occasionally appears in a dessert sauce.

SAGE: Next to parsley, the most familiar herb, certainly the most powerful in flavor. Standard in goose stuffing, breakfast sausages and New England poultry stuffing; also used in other veal and pork dishes, with beans, with tomatoes and fresh cheese.

SAVORY: A gentler sage, with more lemon and pepper in its makeup. Known abroad as "the bean herb," because it does such wonderful things for all the bean-plant family. Also used in meat balls, stuffings, salads and vegetable cocktails.

TARRAGON: The taste is sharp, clean and tangy, so decided it is often used alone. Fine with chicken and rabbit, eggs, fish and shellfish, a necessity for many French sauces and a superb salad herb.

1 cup diced cucumber
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar, salt, vinegar and lemon juice. Stir until dissolved; chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add cucumber and pineapple. Mix well.

Pour into six 4-ounce molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce or watercress, top with 1 teaspoon mayonnaise and sprinkle with paprika.

Florida Sherbet
—First Course or Last—
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
2 cups Florida grapefruit juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 egg white, well-beaten

Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve gelatin and sugar in boiling water. Cool. Add strained fruit juices. Freeze to a mush in automatic refrigerator tray and continue freezing until firm. Serves 6.

WINTRY VEGETABLES
Scalloped Parsnips

6 or 7 medium parsnips
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sifted flour
1 cup rich milk or cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Scrub parsnips clean. Place in saucepan covered with lightly salted boiling water and cook until tender, 20 to 30 minutes.

Slice off outer skin, split lengthwise and pull out the stringy cores. Place the parsnips in a shallow baking pan and cover with cream sauce made from butter, flour, milk or cream, and salt. Cover with bread crumbs and bake about 20 minutes in moderate oven 350 degrees F. Parsnips should be thoroughly heated, and the buttered crumbs golden brown. Serve in the baking pan.

Mashed Turnips
Many people refuse white and yellow turnips, objecting that this vegetable is "too strong". The combination of turnip cooked and mashed with white potato should appeal to many such diners. Sugar improves turnip flavor.

Slice, peel and cube 1 yellow turnip. Cook in boiling water 10 minutes. For each pound of turnip, add 1 white potato, peeled and diced, and 1/2 teaspoon sugar. Cook until tender, drain and mash. Season to taste with salt and pepper and about 1 tablespoon butter. Add hot milk until mixture reaches consistency of mashed potatoes. Beat thoroughly until light and serve very hot, topped with butter and parsley.

Turnip Cakes
Form cold mashed turnips into flat cakes. Dip in beaten egg or cream and roll in flour or powdered crumbs. Sauté in hot shortening until golden brown.

HEALTHFUL AND PATRIOTIC
BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS

Use more apples! Once that slogan was merely healthful and economical. Now it is patriotic as well, since the foreign market for American apples has been almost entirely cut off.

Written requests for recipes reach each cooking school session. Several "pupils" recently have asked for a dependable recipe for apple dumplings. Here it is:

1 1/3 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening
1/4 cup milk (about)
4 medium apples, cored and pared
1 tablespoon butter

FORMER HEAD OF
CAPITAL POLICE
NEW STATE CHIEF

T. P. Sullivan of Springfield Named to Post
Wednesday Eve

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—(AP)—T. P. Sullivan of Springfield is the new head of the Illinois state police and key figure in an administrative arrangement designed to better correlate crime prevention and detection activities.

In addition to being named chief of the highway force, Sullivan also was appointed acting superintendent of criminal identification and investigation, and acting superintendent of the division of supervision of parolees.

Sullivan's appointment as superintendent of the highway force was announced last night by Walter A. Rosenfield, state director of public works and buildings. Rosenfield and Rodney H. Brandon, director of public welfare, jointly named Sullivan to the other posts.

Governor Dwight H. Green said Sullivan's appointment had been recommended by the new state police advisory board headed by Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond of Aurora. The board has been charged with establishing uniform merit regulations for highway policemen.

The governor stated that a closer consolidation of the activities of the three divisions headed by Sullivan has been made necessary by the demands of economy in state government, as well as proper co-ordination and organization of various state divisions having to do with prevention and detection of crime.

Has Held Positions

Sullivan succeeded Jesse Grissom of Carmi as head of the state police. Grissom took the job on appointment by former Governor John Stelle after the resignation of Walter Williams of Peoria. The latter quit to become head of federal guards at the government's munitions plant at Wilmington, Ill.

Formerly chief of police at Springfield, Sullivan has held posts in three past administrations. The late Gov. Louis L. Emmerson named him head of criminal identification and investigation. The late Governor Horner continued him in that post until last October when he became superintendent of the division handling parolees.

Governor Green's statement regarding closer collaboration of the various crime prevention and detection agencies said:

"The growth of state activities and the need for statewide crime prevention agencies has given rise to various division undertaking part of the program. In these interests of economy and of efficient execution of the laws, it is necessary that we draw these various divisions closer together."

28 Pct. of Eligible
Illinoisians Receive
Old Age Assistance

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Twenty-eight per cent of Illinois residents over 65 years of age, the division of old age assistance reported today, are recipients of direct financial aid from the state.

Fletcher C. Kettle, superintendent of the assistance division, reported that the annual increase in number of pension recipients had kept pace with the increase in total number of persons over 65 in Illinois during the past four years.

During 1940, the total number of aged in the state increased by 14,000 and the number of recipients by 3,964, or 28 per cent of the total increase of aged population.

This parallel, Kettle said, indicated a "fairly stable level" of those requiring assistance and furnished a basis of comparison with population increase in the group on which to figure future requirements for assistance.

There are more companies manufacturing foodstuffs in the United States than any other product.

Home Accounts

Thirty 1940 home account books were checked in by Miss Irene Crouch, home account specialist, from the university extension staff on Monday and Tuesday of this week. On Tuesday, Miss Crouch and the home adviser assisted 20 new cooperators in starting their home account books.

Miss Crouch, home account specialist, reports that "fixed" expenditures, such as the electric bill, taxes, insurance payments, telephone and car license, occur regularly during the year regardless of the ups and downs of income. If the family has loaded itself with many of these "set" obligations, it is in danger of feeling the pinch if the income goes down.

Every family has certain "fixed" expenditures which they must make if they are to keep up their present level of living. Just now Illinois families have better incomes in sight in 1941, Miss Crouch said. However, now is a good time to put one's house in order and be ready for either inflation or declining incomes, she said.

Her recommendation to Illinois folks is to resolve to think through the family financial situation now and to plan for the "fixed" expenditures first before taking on any added responsibilities.

Decision of Greece
on Plane Offer Waited

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Decision of the Greek government on a proffered American gift of 30 fighting planes was awaited today after the Greek legation denied that the offer had been rejected.

Navy Secretary Knox said late yesterday that Greece had turned down a proposed free transfer of 30 planes from the U. S. aircraft carrier Wasp.

4 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture is as fine as meal. Add milk, mixing until soft dough is formed. Knead lightly 20 seconds and roll into a 12 inch square. Cut into 4 squares. Place a peeled, cored apple in each square. Cream butter with brown sugar and salt and fill cores of apples with mixture. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Moisten edges of dough with cold water. Bring up four corners of dough to top of apple and press edges together. Brush with milk or cream. Place in baking pan rubbed with shortening. Bake 30 to 35 minutes in hot oven 400 degrees F. Serve with cream. Serves 4.

To Keep Fruit from Discoloring

A silver knife should be used in paring or slicing apples, as the acid of the fruit acts on a steel knife and usually causes a black discoloration of the apple, which may leave a metallic flavor. Stir cooking apples with a silver or wooden spoon. A few drops of lemon, lime, grapefruit or pineapple juice will prevent discoloration.

Statler saw a herd of deer, 12 to 15 in number, crossing the river in the ice, south of the new bridge on route 2. Rev. Mr. Statler and other passing motorists stopped their cars, but the deer, on seeing the cars returned to the east bank of the river and disappeared in the woods.

Mrs. Margaret Hollinger, Mrs. Charles Steed, Miss Helen Barre and Miss Frances Sanders attended a dinner at Oregon Monday night for Girl Scout leaders of Oregon, Byron and Mt. Morris. The dinner was held in the Girl Scout rooms at the Oregon grade school.

The Pine Creek Women's club held an all-day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harold Hanes. A scramble dinner was served at noon. Mrs. Charles Noble was assisting hostess. Mrs. Harry Baker, program chairman, introduced Editor Terry of the Polo Tri-County Press who gave a talk on "Publicity and the News."

Mrs. John Hedrick has been caring for Mrs. Priscilla Alter and little daughter, Kay Ellen, both of whom have been ill with an ear infection the past week.

Those who attended the February meeting of the Mt. Morris Woman's club Monday night which had the largest audience of this season were well impressed with Mel Reid White of the speech department of the University of Wisconsin who was guest speaker.

Although the tale he read in reviewing Maxwell Anderson's popular play, "Winterstet," was a sordid one, Mr. White proved to be a fascinating narrator. In his comments of the play, he related that "Winterstet" has been the only successful contemporary drama in verse on the American stage, from a financial standpoint.

He called attention to the remarkable coincidence that despite its completely modernized style, it has much in common with Shakespeare's immortal, "Hamlet." Not only are the plots themselves quite similar, but the characters, too, correspond to a large extent.

Besides his review of "Winterstet," Mr. White also read, "Where the Neuroses Bloom," by Holbrook in which the humorous vein was a pleasant contrast with the former.

Also appearing on the evening's program was Miss Helen Lou Miller, contra'alto, who sang Grieg's "The First Primrose," and Edwards' "Into the Night," accompanied at the piano by James Asp.

This literary program was arranged by the literature committee which includes Mrs. John Thomas, chairman; Miss Thelma Mott, Mrs. H. J. Stengel and Mrs. Ross Stouffer. Mrs. A. C. Weber of Freeport is to speak on "Flower Arrangements and Decorations," at the March 3 meeting.

It was announced at the February meeting that the board would meet next Monday, February 10, but because of conflict with the Parent-Teachers' meeting the date has been changed to Tuesday evening, February 11, at the home of Mrs. Carroll Boston at 7:30 o'clock. At that time the Time Current Affairs test will be given. All club members are invited to attend the meeting and take the 50-minute test. If at least 25 people take it, the winner will be awarded a book as a prize.

Michael Hogan of Dixon Honored by Three COF Courts

Last evening at the Hotel Nachusa the International state and local courts of the Catholic Order of Foresters united in paying tribute to Michael J. Hogan, 526 Jackson avenue, this city, brother of former Postmaster William F. Hogan, and for many years stock clerk for the Grand Detour Plow Company. Mr. Hogan was enrolled in the legion of honor of the order for having loyally and successfully served over 50 years as a member of the order and over 43 years as financial secretary of the Dixon court.

The fine turkey dinner served in the dining room of the Hotel Nachusa, was attended by all of the members of the local court and their wives or mothers and State Chief Ranger Michael J. Donahue and State High Court Trustee George M. Pfaff, both of Chicago. The arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Philip L. Reilly and Attorney Gerald Jones of Dixon, and Attorney Edward A. Jones, Chief Ranger of the local court, presided as toastmaster. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Pfaff, Mr. Donahue and the Reverend Father J. D. Burke of St. Patrick's church of this city. Mr. Pfaff explained the insurance features of the order, complimented Mr. Hogan on his over half century of service and urged the members of the order to follow in the footsteps of Mr. Hogan for the good of the order in this community.

Mr. Donahue highly complimented Mr. Hogan on his years of service and explained to the gathering that it was the custom of the High Court to honor men who had served as long as Mr. Hogan or who had otherwise signally served the order by enrolling them in the legion of honor of the order.

Mr. Hogan was then formally enrolled in the legion of honor by Chief Ranger Donahue and Grand Trustee Pfaff and presented with a beautiful gold pin signifying the award. After this presentation the members of the local court presented Mr. Hogan with a personal gift from the court. A picture of the presentation was taken for reproduction in the periodical of the order.

The citizens of Dixon unanimously join the members of the order in so honoring one of the city's most beloved and loyal fellow townsmen and congratulate him on his merited award.

Rumanian Criminal Code is Most Severe

Bucharest, Rumania, Feb. 6.—(AP)—(Passed by military censorship)—The most severe criminal code in modern Rumanian history was announced today by Premier General Ion Antonescu, providing such penalties as death for drawing anti-government cartoons and five to 15 years at hard labor for singing political songs in the streets.

The code also establishes the death penalty for misappropriation of more than $4,000 in public funds and one to five years imprisonment for parents whose children are convicted of crimes. Penalties equal to those for adults are provided for children over 15. The prison terms are doubled for Jews, Communists and those of non-Rumanian origin.

The text of the resolution follows:

Text of Resolution
Whereas, it has been reported by the public press that at a Republican Judicial convention held at Freeport, Illinois, on February 3, 1941, the question was raised by a delegate whether the nominee Senator George C. Dixon, could legally accept the position since he was paid his salary as state senator for the biennium ending January, 1943; Attorney Henry C. Warner, who nominated Senator Dixon assured the convention that the acceptance of the nomination by Mr. Dixon would be legal.

We point out to the voters that Mr. Warner's opinion is a personal view and not sustained by any court decision. The Appellate Court of this State in speaking of the duties of a State Senator has said:

"The duties of a State Senator are purely personal in their nature. During the session of the general assembly his personal presence is constantly required if he shall honestly and conscientiously perform the duties of his office. There may also be special sessions of the legislature. While the general assembly is in session the duties of a state senator require his presence in Springfield."

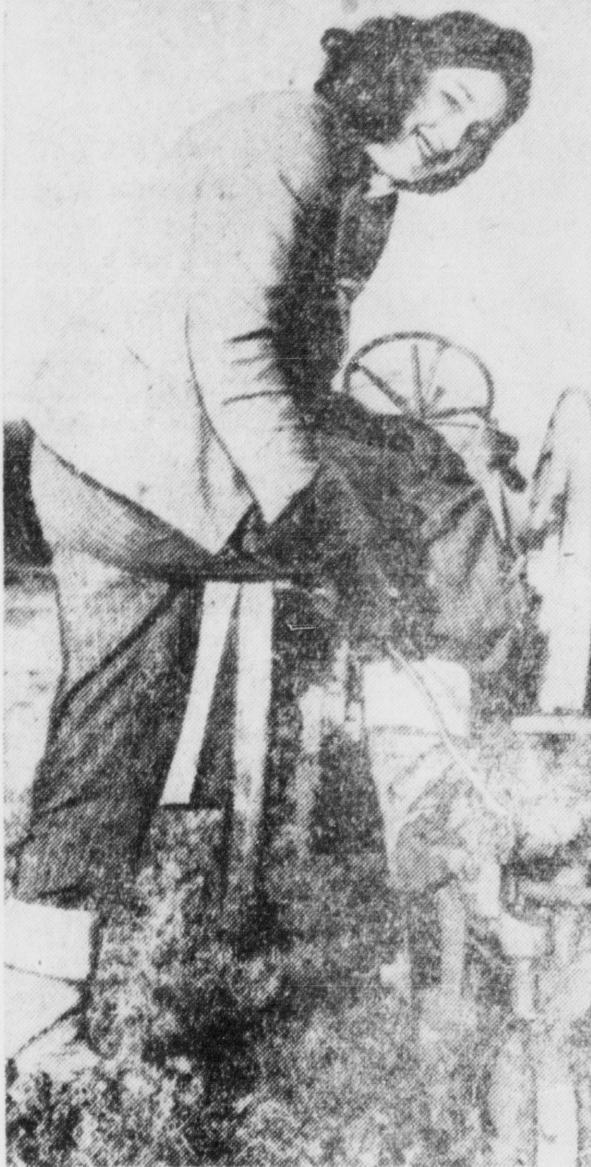

In view of this declaration as to the duties of a Senator we contend that no court will hold that any officer may draw a salary in advance and then resign and be elected to another office and draw another salary. This would not be honest and conscientious performance as defined by the court. And this question will be decided by a court, if necessary.

We further direct the attention of the voters to the efforts of Senator George C. Dixon to create a judicial district to his political liking in the 1939 session of the General Assembly. He joined with his colleague, Senator Charles Baker of Ogle county, in the introduction of Senate Bill No. 6, which sought to place Whiteside county in the 15th judicial circuit and secured the passage of the bill in the Senate with the aid of the Kelly-Nash machine—(which Senator Dixon condemns when running for Senator).

We further direct the attention of the voters to the fact that

University Engineers Sought for Navy Posts

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, former commander of the Asiatic fleet, will visit several universities and colleges in the next two weeks in an effort to interest engineering students in joining the navy.

The navy is offering seniors in engineering schools commissions as ensigns in the naval reserve upon their graduation. It is also offering juniors probationary commissions which will keep them out of the draft and obligate them to become ensigns in the naval reserve after they graduate.

Yarnell's itinerary includes: Ohio State, Feb. 6; Purdue university, Feb. 10; Illinois university, Feb. 12; University of Wisconsin, Feb. 14; and Michigan State college, Lansing, Feb. 17.

Quotas on Wheat May Be Fixed by AAA Initial Time

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has tentatively set May 31 as the date for a grower referendum upon a proposal to invoke strict marketing quotas on the 1941 wheat crop.

Plans for such a referendum are being made on the basis of prospects that the 1941 harvest and surpluses now on hand would provide an "excessive" supply within the meaning of the 1938 farm act. The legislation makes a referendum necessary when supplies become excessive.

Quotas would have to be approved by two thirds of the producers voting. If approved, each producer would be limited to the sale or use as feed of wheat harvested from his AAA acreage allotment for 1941. Farmers selling wheat in excess of the amount would be subject to a penalty tax of 15 cents a bushel on the excess.

Record Supply Likely

AAA officials say that the supply of wheat might be the largest of record after harvest. They estimate that there will be a surplus of about 385,000,000 bushels when the new crop starts moving to market. Present prospects, they say, point to a 1941 crop of between 835,000,000 and 900,000,000 bushels.

Only a sharp reversal in crop prospects or a change in the farm law, officials say, would eliminate a quota referendum. This would be the first time that quotas were proposed for wheat.

The world situation is such, officials said, that without the support of government loans, farm prices for wheat would tumble to around 25 or 30 cents a bushel. Not all wheat farmers would be subject to quotas. The law exempts farms on which the normal production of the acreage planted to wheat is less than 200 bushels.

A statistician estimate that if a single train were assigned to travel all railway trackage in the United States at 60 miles an hour, it would take 292 days.

More than 39,000,000 persons passed through New York's Grand Central station as railroad passengers in 1940.

SETTLING AN ARGUMENT

For the fellows who have said the Dixon cagers have never won a game on the Sterling coliseum court, there are these facts: The Dixon team defeated Sterling twice in 1934—once there and once here—and repeated that performance in 1936. In the 1938 season the locals defeated Sterling twice, but both games were on the Dixon court.

Layden Finds He Is in Middle of Grid Controversy

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Elmer Layden quit the cloisters of collegiate football for the turbulent pro grid business last Monday, and already he has noticed the change.

The former Notre Dame coach and athletic director found himself in the middle of a controversy today over his appointment as National Professional Football League commissioner, hardly before the ink on his contract had dried.

Bert Bell, half owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, and two other club owners—Alexis Thompson of Pittsburgh and Dan Topping of Brooklyn—touched off the debate yesterday by declaring that Layden had been "railroaded" into office.

The lanky Layden, never known to be overly talkative, assumed a strict self-imposed silence as pro circles debated the legality of his appointment and collegiate ranks pondered his successor at Notre Dame, where the athletic board meets tomorrow.

The procedure followed in making the appointment apparently caused the squabble among pro owners. Boiled down, it appears that a committee delegated to interview three prospective commissioners quit after talking to and only two, recommending Layden precipitately because his contract at Notre Dame had expired.

Situation Explained

Bell and George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, formed the interviewing committee. The situation was explained thusly by Halas:

"A majority of the club owners voted to hire Layden and his appointment is legal and official. x x x At a recent meeting in Chicago the plan was to select the commissioner at the April meeting but circumstances made it imperative that we hire Layden without delay if we were to get him. Layden's contract with Notre Dame expired last week and the university proffered him a new one. Neither Layden nor Notre Dame could wait until an April meeting."

Bell charged that Layden had been "railroaded" illegally when John P. Kelly, Philadelphia Democratic leader, and Frank McCormick, University of Minnesota athletic director.

"A majority of the club owners voted for Layden and a majority is all the league constitution demands on any matter of business," Halas said.

"It is true that we were unable to inform Bell of the official vote, but that was because he was traveling en route to Florida."

Bell stated in Philadelphia that the first he knew of Layden's appointment was when he read it in the newspapers.
